

Weather Report & Forecast

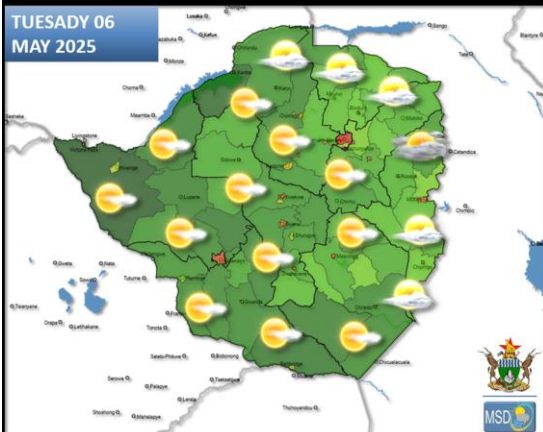

SATELLITE-BASED GLANCE INTO THIS MORNING, MONDAY 05 MAY 2025

Much of the country experienced a cold start to the day, with temperatures dropping into the single digits (below 10°C). This was due to overnight dispersion of most of the clouds. The only area to retain significant morning cloudiness was the southern escarpment of the central Highveld (i.e northern Masvingo, southern Midlands, southern areas of Mashonaland East and Manicaland). By midday, these lingering clouds had largely cleared, resulting in mild afternoon conditions in the southern regions and warmer conditions in the north. A predominantly north-easterly airflow contributed to the warming trend across northern areas.
